

Skiing and Shopping in Park City

Pre-Christmas Skiing and Shopping in Park City, Utah

Thursday December 14 - Sunday December 17

In the lead-up to the holidays, we will ski/board Park City. A 45-minute drive from Salt Lake City International Airport, Park City/Canyons is home to an impressive 7,300 skiable acres.

Similar to Whistler's merger with Blackcomb, the ski resort earned the title of most lift-served terrain in the USA after the largest resort improvement project in the history of American skiing (totaling more than $50 million) linked it with neighbouring Canyons Resort during the summer of 2015.

With base/summit elevations at 6,800 ft./10,000 ft. (translation, almost 1000m vertical), this massive mountain complex boasts 347 trails, close to half which are suited for intermediate skiers and riders. Park City also offers up plenty of advanced and expert terrain, along with 14 bowls, 8 terrain parks, 6 natural half-pipes, 1 super-pipe and 1 mini-pipe. With three distinct base areas, a fabulous array of restaurants, and pre-Christmas shopping on tap, Park City will make for a truly world-class destination.

*Prices include 3 nights' shared accommodations as well as shared local transportation while in Salt Lake City. Prices do not include airfare, lift tickets, meals, parking, health insurance or any other expenses not specified. A valid passport will be required to enter the USA. Absolutely no refunds will be issued for problems travelling to the United States. All participants will be required to sign a waiver.

I will already have arrived in Salt Lake and will meet/greet folks at the airport on the condition that scheduled flights arrive in Salt Lake around 9:00 pm +/- one hour on Thursday night.  Tip: Consider flying via Southwest or Alaska Airlines out of Seattle. The flight times and ticket prices are good and Southwest (2) / Alaska (1 – for skiing equipment) offer free baggage allowances! Where possible,

Paul is happy to co-ordinate shared-parking carpools to and from YVR / Park – Fly or Seatac.

Please schedule your return flights for Sunday night departing SLC around 7:00 pm, unless You're planning to stay longer in Utah.
